

Out With The Old In With The New

Even for this time of year it was cold to say the very least , but for this lone rider who had spent most of his time in the Carpathian mountains it was a just like a pleasant summer day .

The phone call had suprised him , it had been a long time since anyone had required his services . "the World had been very quite these last few years" he mumbled to him self , "No Monster's terrorising villager's , no bat's flying through the night looking for blood , no one even looking for a full moon to quench there thirst" . The phone call had been short , "Mr Helsing I am need of your services please meet with me at Haddon Field Hospital six pm sharp tommorow evening , just ask for Doctor Loomis at the reception desk , thank you " Click ! . No description or detail's of the job just the words of a man who sounded desperate and in dire need of help . He was not even going to bother with the call thinking it just one of many hoax calls he had received but this one was different it had a strange feeling to it , something was not quite right.

He pulled into the town just as the sun was setting it was definitely Halloween , pumpkins where lit up everywhere giving the town a strange eerie glow and it was quite oh so quite and now he realised the reason why one thing this town was missing was people , not a single sole could be seen on what should have been the busiest night of the year , and there suddenly in front of him stood the Haddon Field Sanatorium for the criminally insane , over looking the end of town and only adding more forboding to the scene , looking like one of those dark gothic castles that he was more than familiar with.

There was no need even to go that reception desk for out of the gloom appeared would could only be the man from that strange phone call.

The man was short and balding with a disheveled appearance and there was a strange look of terror written all over his face . "Mr Helsing I presume that's who you are . I am Dr Loomis I am in desperate need of your help. "My help", replied Helsing, " I only deal with taking care of one thing , monsters you dont happen to have a monster here do you ? "

"A monster Mr Helsing well he has been called many things and monster would be an apt description indeed but for tonite let's just call him Michael , Michael Myers.